Bulldog Contents

If you wake up and don't want to smile

Open your eyes and look at the day

You'll see things in a different way

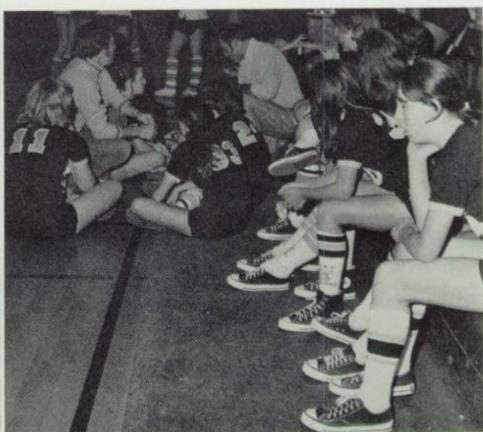

Don't stop thinking about tomorrow

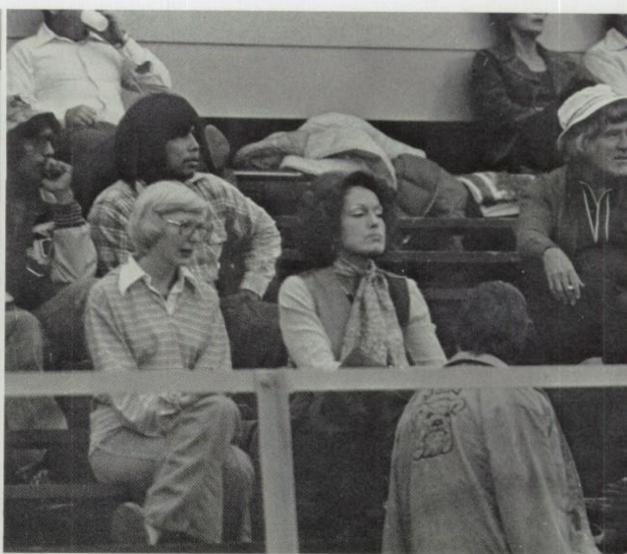

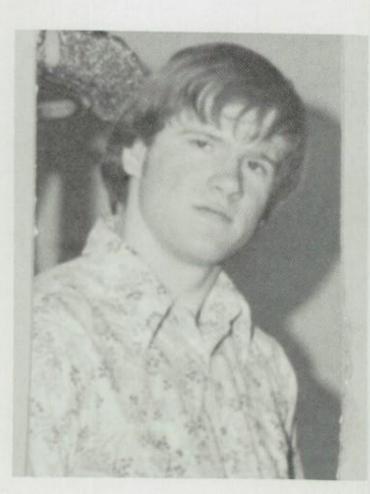

Don't stop it'll soon be here

It'll be better than before

Yesterday's gone, yesterday's gone

1978 Bulldog

Dedicated to

Jan Davis

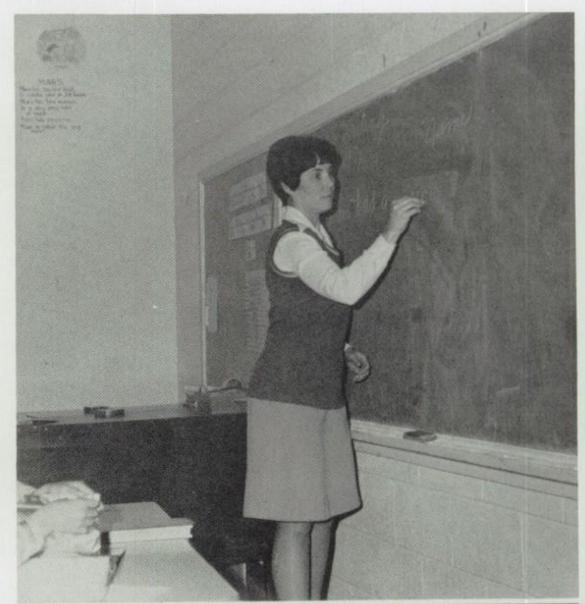

Jay Elementary School

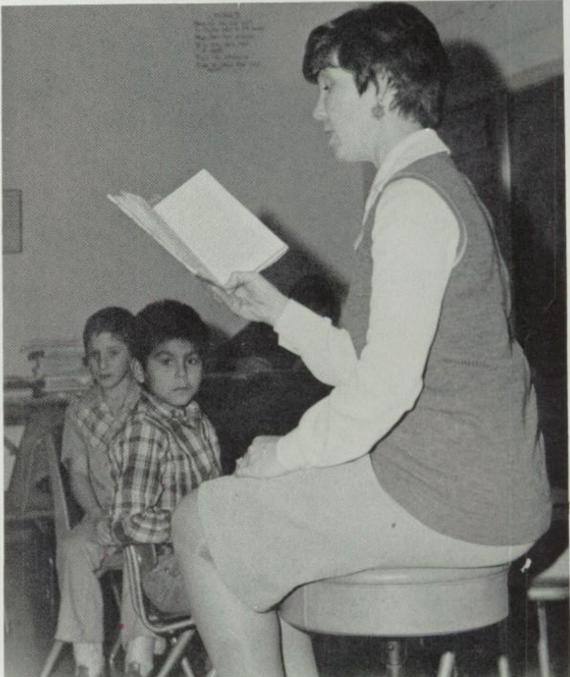

"I like to turn out students who can cope with life today, and to encourage students to work to the best of their ability."

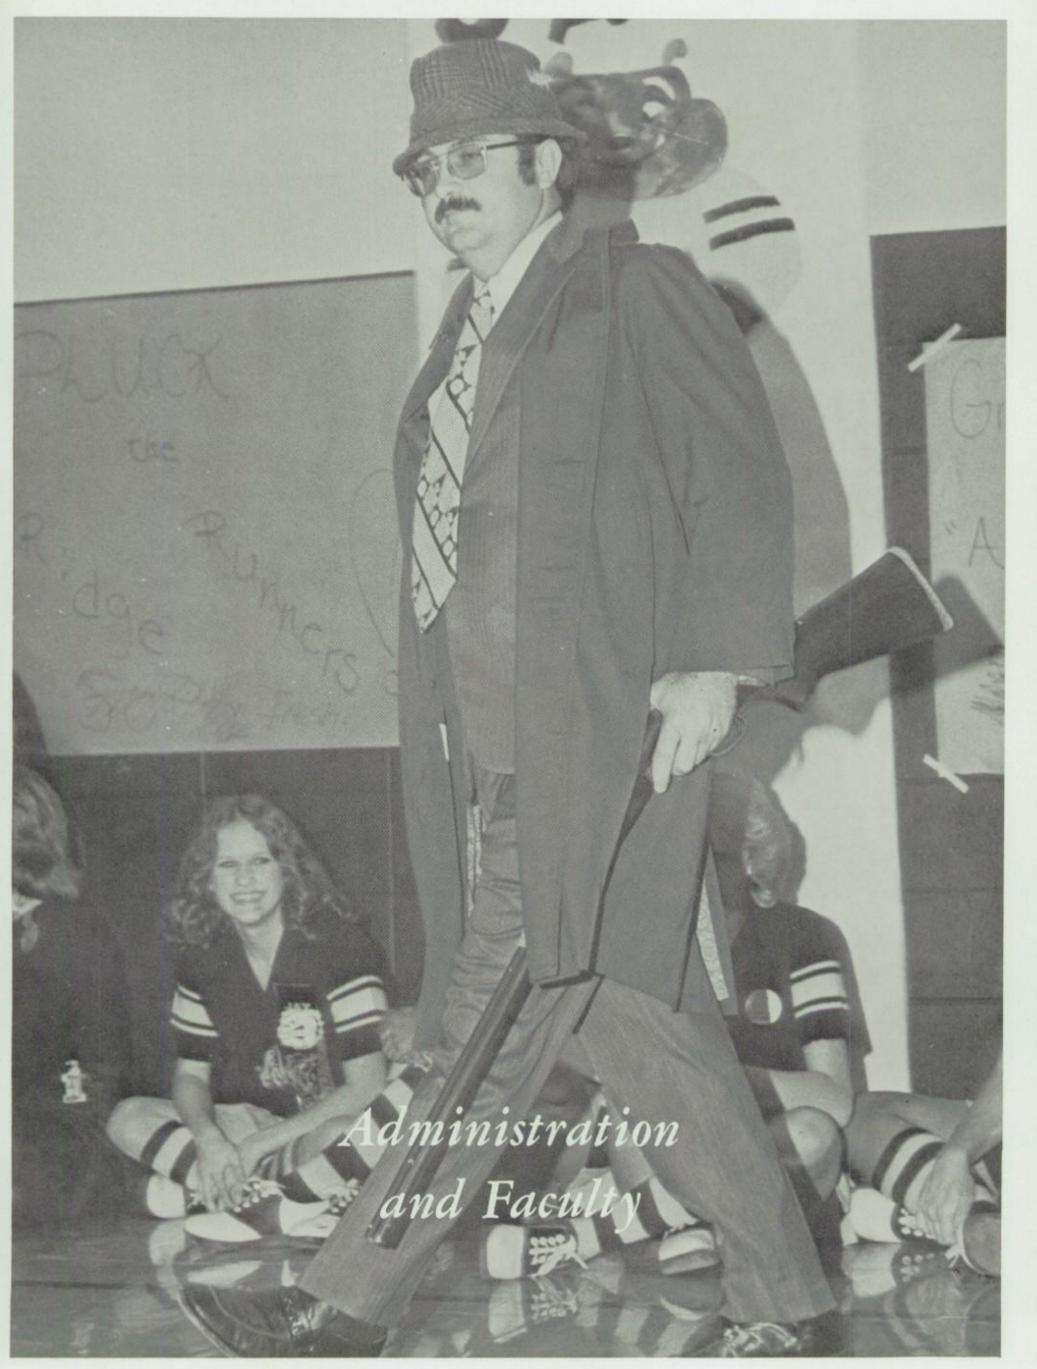

With this teaching philosophy, Mrs. Davis has spent twenty-one years in the field of Special Education, fourteen which have been in the Jay School System.

Jan currently works with students in the Education of the Mentally Handicapped Program. The purpose of this program is to try to get students to hold some kind of job, to be able to read the newspaper, to be able to fill out a job application, to know arithmetic so they can figure and count, and to get along in life.

Jan holds a B. S. from the University of Missouri and a Masters Degree in Special Education from the University of Tulsa.

Woods Masters Basketball and Herself

By GARY SHUTT World Sports Writer

Time was when the player that could best cover Lisa Woods was Lisa Woods. She played a gruesome manto-man defense.

The Jay senior takes the game of basketball with such tenacity and vigor that she constantly strives to do her best.

"She's grown up over the last couple of years," said her coach Butch Winfield. "She's got all the talent in the world, but if she had a bad game it would carry over to the next three or four games.

"She is her own worst enemy. No one puts more pressure on Lisa than Lisa."

He added, "I've never seen anyone play with more intensity than her. It's the same way in practice. She is real intent on making herself better."

A perfect example of Woods' new ability to bounce back after a bad game (which she doesn't have often) came Saturday night when she scored 41 points in a 58-56 victory over highly-regarded Barnsdall.

For her play in pacing Jay to the Catoosa Tournament title and a 13-0 start, Woods is the Tulsa World's prep girl basketballer of the week.

The 5-8 Woods scored 108 points for the week to leave her season scoring average at 36.2. Her highest total last week was 44 in a 58-50 victory over Caney Valley.

Thursday night, after a poor showing in a free throw contest, she scored 23 points in a slim 58-55 victory over Catoosa. She spent more time than she prefers fuming on the bench with foul trouble.

"It was the sorriest she has played this year," said Winfield. "She threw up all the way home. Several of our players have got some strain of pneumonia. Lisa was still sick Saturday but she said that wasn't why she played poorly Thursday."

The oldest of two basketball playing daughters (LeeAnn is an eighth grader), Woods bounced back Saturday and hit 16 of 30 field goal tries to drop Class A power Barnsdall.

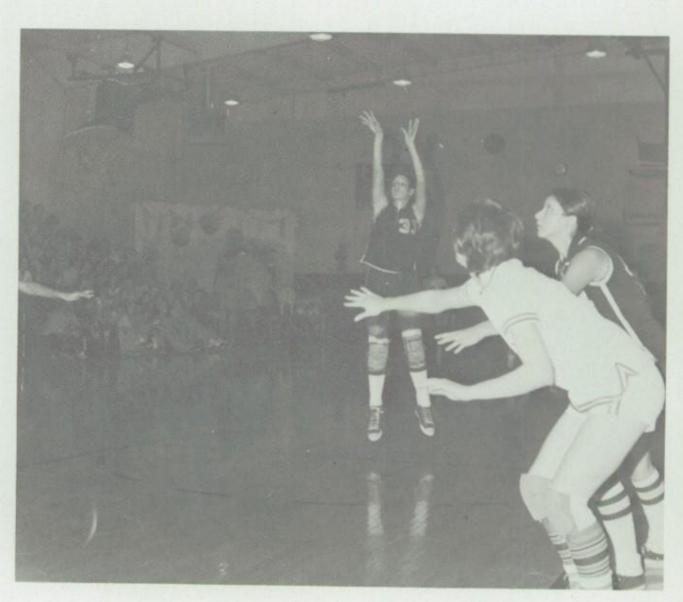

Woods started as a guard her freshman year then averaged 27.5 points a game her sophomore year and 33.9 last year. She anchors Jay's forward press and grabs five rebounds a game.

Winfield is in his second season at Jay. He came from Caney Valley where he coached track and basketball star Dana Horseman, the 1976 winner of the Jim Thorpe Player of the Year award.

"I never thought I'd coach another girl like Dana. She was great in track. But Lisa is by far the best basketball player I've ever coached," Winfield said.
